

General Topics :: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz)

Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz) - posted by jordanamo, on: 2007/4/3 15:20

You scored as Karl Barth. The daddy of 20th Century theology. You perceive liberal theology to be a disaster and so you insist that the revelation of Christ, not human experience, should be the starting point for all theology. Karl Barth 100% John Calvin 80% Martin Luther 80% Friedrich Schleiermacher 67% Anselm 67% Jonathan Edwards 60% Jürgen Moltmann 53% Augustine 47% Charles Finney 27% Paul Tillich 0% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

(Note: Just copy the HTML text in the box and paste here when you're done.)

Jordan

Re: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz) - posted by KingJimmy (), on: 2007/4/3 15:31

You scored as Anselm. Anselm is the outstanding theologian of the medieval period. He sees man's primary problem as having failed to render unto God what we owe him, so God becomes man in Christ and gives God what he is due. You should read 'Cur Deus Homo?' Anselm 100% Jonathan Edwards 87% John Calvin 73% Karl Barth 73% Martin Luther 67% Jürgen Moltmann 67% Friedrich Schleiermacher 67% Augustine 53% Paul Tillich 33% Charles Finney 33% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re: - posted by KingJimmy (), on: 2007/4/3 15:32

They need some Arminian theologians to help balance this thing out. Some of the questions are kinda strange too.

Re: - posted by jordanamo, on: 2007/4/3 15:36

Yeah I know... it wasn't that good of a quiz in it's depth but still gives somewhat of an overview. After all, where's Jacobus Arminius? And, Jonathan Edwards without John Wesley? Oh well.

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2007/4/3 15:40

Quote:
-----John Wesley?

I believe I did this 2 years ago and was a "welsey" holiness in my results.

Re: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz) - posted by Warrior4Jah (), on: 2007/4/3 15:41

I hope that I interpreted the questions correctly!
This is what is supposed to be me.. :-P

You scored as Karl Barth. The daddy of 20th Century theology. You perceive liberal theology to be a disaster and so you insist that the revelation of Christ, not human experience, should be the starting point for all theology. Karl Barth 80% John Calvin 67% Martin Luther 60% Augustine 47% Jonathan Edwards 40% Anselm 27% Jürgen Moltmann 13% Charles Finney 13% Friedrich Schleiermacher 7% Paul Tillich 0% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz), on: 2007/4/3 15:43

You scored as Karl Barth.
The daddy of 20th Century theology. You perceive liberal theology to be a disaster and so you insist that the revelation of Christ, not human experience, should be the starting point for all theology.

Karl Barth 93%
Anselm 87%
John Calvin 53%
Martin Luther 53%
Jürgen Moltmann 47%

General Topics :: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz)

Jonathan Edwards 33%
Charles Finney 33%
Augustine 33%
Paul Tillich 27%
Friedrich Schleiermacher 27%

Interesting mixture here, if you compare the %ages of mine and Jordan's

We could probably learn a lot about ourselves by this kind of quiz ;-)

Like that I often sit on the fence about some doctrines.

Surprised that I scored so highly with Anselm; not even sure what his distinctive beliefs were!

I never heard of some of these theologians! Such as Moltmann and Schleiermacher.

Anybody?

A good quiz!

Jeannette

Re: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz), on: 2007/4/3 15:48

You scored as Martin Luther. The daddy of the Reformation. You are opposed to any Catholic ideas of works-salvation and see the scriptures as being primarily authoritative. Anselm 100% Martin Luther 100% John Calvin 73% J rgen Moltmann 67% Karl Barth 67% Paul Tillich 53% Jonathan Edwards 40% Augustine 33% Charles Finney 33% Friedrich Schleiermacher 20% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re: - posted by jordanamo, on: 2007/4/3 15:53

Moltmann is a hard person to dissect and to give an overview of him. I'm currently going through his The Crucified God, and have so far much been blessed by it.

Here's an overview,

(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jurgen_Moltmann) Jurgen Moltmann

Schleiermacher is a whole nother deal.. (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Schleiermacher>) Schleiemacher

Re: - posted by Warrior4Jah (), on: 2007/4/3 16:01

Guess this is bad... :-? :oops:

You scored as Christianity. Your views are most similar to those of Christianity. Do more research on Christianity and possibly consider being baptized and accepting Jesus, if you aren't already Christian.

Christianity is the second of the Abrahamic faiths; it follows Judaism and is followed by Islam. It differs in its belief of Jesus, as not a prophet nor historical figure, but as God in human form. The Holy Trinity is the concept that God takes three forms: the Father, the Son (Jesus), and the Holy Ghost (sometimes called Holy Spirit). Jesus taught the idea of instead of seeking revenge, one should love his or her neighbors and enemies. Christians believe that Jesus died on the cross to save humankind and forgive people's sins. Christianity 83% Judaism 25% Buddhism 17% Hinduism 17% Paganism 17% Islam 8% agnosticism 0% Satanism 0% atheism 0% Which religion is the right one for you? (new version) created with QuizFarm.com

General Topics :: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz)

Re: - posted by BenWilliams (), on: 2007/4/3 16:01

You scored as Martin Luther. The daddy of the Reformation. You are opposed to any Catholic ideas of works-salvation and see the scriptures as being primarily authoritative. Anselm93% Martin Luther93% Charles Finney87% Jonathan Edwards73% JÃ¼rgen Moltmann67% Karl Barth67% John Calvin60% Augustine53% Paul Tillich53% Friedrich Schleiermacher40% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

I must say that I think this quiz needed a little less reformed theology, and a little more in the area of Biblical Christianity. Too many reformed doctrinal stances, and some were hard to sort out.

I don't think I like being paired up with Martin Luther, he had a lot of crazy theology.

Re: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz) - posted by timmyspitz (), on: 2007/4/3 16:05

You scored as Karl Barth. The daddy of 20th Century theology. You perceive liberal theology to be a disaster and so you insist that the revelation of Christ, not human experience, should be the starting point for all theology. Anselm80% Karl Barth80% Martin Luther73% John Calvin67% Jonathan Edwards67% Charles Finney67% JÃ¼rgen Moltmann47% Augustine33% Friedrich Schleiermacher27% Paul Tillich20% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re:, on: 2007/4/3 16:10

Quote:

-----it wasn't that good of a quiz in it's depth but still gives somewhat of an overview

It was fun though.

Re:, on: 2007/4/3 16:20

This is hard to believe... I answered the questions as either totally agree or totally disagree! And I had to take a tie breaker question. This was interesting but I wouldn't hang my hat on the results. :-D

You scored as Anselm. Anselm is the outstanding theologian of the medieval period. He sees man's primary problem as having failed to render unto God what we owe him, so God becomes man in Christ and gives God what he is due. You should read 'Cur Deus Homo?' JÃ¼rgen Moltmann100% Anselm100% Martin Luther100% Karl Barth100% Paul Tillich100% John Calvin67% Charles Finney67% Augustine67% Jonathan Edwards33% Friedrich Schleiermacher33% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re: - posted by iansmith (), on: 2007/4/3 16:33

Awww I wanted to be a Jonathan Edwards!

You scored as Anselm. Anselm is the outstanding theologian of the medieval period. He sees man's primary problem as having failed to render unto God what we owe him, so God becomes man in Christ and gives God what he is due. You should read 'Cur Deus Homo?' John Calvin93% Anselm93% Karl Barth87% Martin Luther87% Jonathan Edwards67% Charles Finney60% JÃ¼rgen Moltmann53% Friedrich Schleiermacher40% Augustine40% Paul Tillich13% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re:, on: 2007/4/3 17:09

I agree with Ben, this test was heavily slanted.... and tho I agree with this statement: "You are opposed to any Catholic ideas of works-salvation and see the scriptures as being primarily authoritative" ... I am not a big fan of all of Luther's theology, or his lifestyle. But I'll agree with the statement.

() You scored as Martin Luther. The daddy of the Reformation. You are opposed to any Catholic ideas of works-salvation and see the scriptures as being primarily authoritative. Karl Barth100% Martin Luther100% Anselm100% John Calvin67% Jonathan Edwards67% Charles Finney67% JÃ¼rgen Moltmann53% Friedrich Schleiermacher53% Paul Tillich33% Augustine20% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

General Topics :: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz)

Re:, on: 2007/4/3 17:27

You scored as Karl Barth. The daddy of 20th Century theology. You perceive liberal theology to be a disaster and so you insist that the revelation of Christ, not human experience, should be the starting point for all theology. Karl Barth 100% Martin Luther 100% John Calvin 67% Jonathan Edwards 67% Charles Finney 67% Paul Tillich 33% Friedrich Schleiermacher 33% Anselm 33% Jürgen Moltmann 0% Augustine 0% Which theologian are you? created with QuizFarm.com

Re: - posted by Jacob19, on: 2007/4/3 18:22

You scored as Charles Finney.

You're passionate about God and love to preach the Gospel. Your theology borders on pelagianism and it is said that if God were taken out of your theology, it would look exactly the same.

Anselm

100%
John Calvin

100%
Martin Luther

100%
Paul Tillich

100%
Jürgen Moltmann

100%
Jonathan Edwards

100%
Charles Finney

100%
Friedrich Schleiermacher

100%
Karl Barth

100%
Augustine

100%

=====
I messed around until I got Finney... I guess this is a calvinist quiz lol

Re: - posted by letsgetbusy (), on: 2007/4/4 0:36

Strange that I have never even heard of Anselm. I agree that there should be some in this list that are not, ie: Wesley, Spurgeon, etc. I still had a lot of fun.

You scored as Anselm.

Anselm is the outstanding theologian of the medieval period. He sees man's primary problem as having failed to render unto God what we owe him, so God becomes man in Christ and gives God what he is due. You should read 'Cur Deus Homo?'

General Topics :: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz)

Anselm 100%
Martin Luther 100%
John Calvin 93%
Jonathan Edwards 87%
Augustine 67%
Paul Tillich 67%
Charles Finney 67%
Friedrich Schleiermacher 60%
Karl Barth 47%
Jürgen Moltmann 40%

Re: - posted by letsgetbusy (), on: 2007/4/4 1:09

Wow, I thought I was saved. What must I do to be saved?

Just kidding. I think the way they give the result statement is a little flawed, or maybe I am just 'too sure' I am saved. Maybe I need to examine myself.

Your views are most similar to those of Christianity. Do more research on Christianity and possibly consider being baptized and accepting Jesus, if you aren't already Christian. Christianity is the second of the Abrahamic faiths; it follows Judaism and is followed by Islam. It differs in its belief of Jesus, as not a prophet nor historical figure, but as God in human form. The Holy Trinity is the concept that God takes three forms: the Father, the Son (Jesus), and the Holy Ghost (sometimes called Holy Spirit). Jesus taught the idea of instead of seeking revenge, one should love his or her neighbors and enemies. Christians believe that Jesus died on the cross to save humankind and forgive people's sins.

Christianity 92%
Buddhism 50%
Judaism 46%
Islam 33%
Paganism 21%
Hinduism 17%
agnosticism 13%
Satanism 0%
atheism 0%

Re: - posted by iansmith (), on: 2007/4/4 1:41

Quote:

-----letsgetbusy wrote:

Strange that I have never even heard of Anselm. ...

Never even heard of Anselm?! I have to be honest, if I hadn't taken so many philosophy classes in college (public uni) I probably wouldn't know who he was either... except that he was one of the greatest theologians who has ever lived. He also created one of the greatest Theological arguments for the existence of God ever put forth in the language of philosophy (even if most modern philosophers dismiss it).

Many modern day Christian teachers love to quote Anselm without giving credit (maybe not even knowing they're quoting him) =P Although if you listen to Ravi Zacharias you'll hear his name dropped quite frequently.

General Topics :: Which Theologian Are You? (Quiz)

Re:, on: 2007/4/4 8:26

Quote:

-----I agree that there should be some in this list that are not, ie: Wesley, Spurgeon, etc. I still had a lot of fun.

I agree... Matthew Henry and Charles Spurgeon have had more influence on my theology than anyone else.

Krispy

Re: - posted by iansmith (), on: 2007/4/4 10:00

Krispy, it would be wrong to assume that those men got their theology out of thin air.

Newton said that he never did anything huge to contribute to science, but that he was a small man standing on the shoulders of giants.

Hebrews 11 tells us to look back to our fathers of faith, and Leonard Ravenhill also encouraged believers to find out about those great men and women of God before us. Certainly Charles Spurgeon and Matthew Henry had heroes in the faith and had developed their theology from somewhere (although I certainly won't put it beyond the revelation from the Spirit). But the vast majority of us will get a good portion of our knowledge on the nature and person of God from those of faith before us.

Re: - posted by PaulWest (), on: 2007/4/4 10:12

Is Paul the Apostle one of the theologians represented? I would think I'd like to resemble him the most.

Re: - posted by enid, on: 2007/4/4 10:25

I'm not doing the quiz!

Re: - posted by crsschk (), on: 2007/4/4 10:27

For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise. 2Co 10:12

Re: - posted by enid, on: 2007/4/4 10:56

crsschk,
Well said.

Can't understand the reason for the quiz and what difference it makes.

But, I guess it's harmless. I said, I guess.

God bless.

Re: - posted by crsschk (), on: 2007/4/4 11:09

Enid, true to an extent ... Seemingly harmless and would depend certainly... With our bent towards pride bad enough on its own ... thought it worth the reminder.

Re: - posted by Warrior4Jah (), on: 2007/4/4 14:01

Brother! You make me feel better. ;-) Atleast there is no 'satanism' in it. :-)

Quote:

-----Wow, I thought I was saved. What must I do to be saved?

Just kidding. I think the way they give the result statement is a little flawed, or maybe I am just 'too sure' I am saved. Maybe I need to examine myself.
