Hi everyone,

I wanted to mention to you all that when I opened these links just now there was profane and vulgar content displayed on the pages.

It was not in the videos themselves but in the surrounding content(description and comments).

I'm not mentioning this here to find fault with Ricky but thought others should be aware.

I personally very rarely open these links, especially if there is no description as to the content given.

Wish you all well.

Alot of this is conspiracy theories and I would advise Christians to not get "tangled" up in these things. They can cause much spiritual problems when dwelled upon.

sorry for that link being there on what I posted.

I like to see some of the sermons on youtube and the other links are often there that are too explicit
