

and Current Events :: Department of Homeland Security Report: Pro-Lifers Most Dangerous Domestic Terrorists

Department of Homeland Security Report: Pro-Lifers Most Dangerous Domestic Terrorists - posted by HomeFree89 (),

"The Department of Homeland Security has issued an emergency assessment entitled "Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Climate Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment." When the document was first made public yesterday, I instructed our staff to verify that this was in fact a legitimate document. The reason I expressed skepticism was that the nature of the statements contained in the report were so outrageous to the pro-life community and to free speech that I could not imagine that Homeland Security would actually issue such a document. Nevertheless, we've had an opportunity to verify the document as to its authenticity. Additionally, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security has also stated that it did in fact issue the document to all law enforcement personnel throughout the United States.

The report is troubling as to its scope and dangerous as to its precedent. The key finding noted by the Department of Homeland Security is that, although there is "no specific information that domestic rightwing terrorists are currently planning acts of violence . . . rightwing extremists may be gaining new recruits by playing on their fears about several emergent issues." In defining rightwing extremism, the report states "rightwing extremism in the United States can be broadly divided into those groups, movements, and adherents that are primarily hate-oriented . . . and those that are mainly antigovernment, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely. It may include groups and individuals that are dedicated to a single issue, such as opposition to abortion or immigration." To label pro-lifers and those who are opposed to certain immigration policies as rightwing extremists and domestic terrorists is incorrect as a matter of law and wrong as a matter of policy."

To read the whole article by the ACLJ's Jay Sekulow, click (<http://aclj.org/TrialNotebook/Read.aspx?id767>) here

You might also check the following link out: <http://beheardproject.squarespace.com/>

Re: Department of Homeland Security Report: Pro-Lifers Most Dangerous Domestic Terror, on: 2009/4/22 16:34

Wait till they get a load of me....

(just kidding Barry!)

Krispy

Re: - posted by BeYeDoers (), on: 2009/4/22 17:04

What about groups who are hate-oriented toward the unborn...like Obama and the racist baby slaughterhouses called "planned parenthood"? Are they a threat?

And what about federal government who rejects the constitutional authority of states and individuals? They have essentially erased the ninth and tenth amendments in favor of federal dictatorship.

I'm with Krispy...and may be preparing to move to Texas and secede!

Re: Department of Homeland Security Report: Pro-Lifers Most Dangerous Domestic Terror - posted by sojourner7 (), on:

Someone who genuinely believes that life is precious and sacred would never resort to violent means to send a message that abortion is a crime and a sin.

Re: , on: 2009/4/23 7:12

There has been a lot of talk on a local radio show in Asheville about the western part of NC seceding from the rest of North Carolina and calling ourselves West Carolina. Maybe we should just go all the way and pull out of the Union too. Call ourselves the Republic of Carolina. It could run from Statesville to the TN line.

Hey, we did it once before...

sojourner7... who said anything about violence? My soul seceded from the Union a long time ago when I became a citizen of God's Kingdom.

Krispy

Re: - posted by sojourner7 (), on: 2009/4/23 13:30

Homeland Security's risk assessment believes that the right-wing are extremists who are using fears to recruit others and may resort to violence to make their point!! Read the article!!

Re: - posted by ccchhrrriiiss (), on: 2009/4/23 14:38

Hi sojourner7...

The problem that I have with Obama's pick for Homeland Security Chief, Janet Napolitano, has less to do with potential techniques used to attract supporters...and more to do with just WHO she labels a "right-wing extremist." They are creating a new category of potential suspects based solely upon moral and religious views.

Like you said, true believers do not resort to violence. I am troubled, however, that this report singles out groups who belong to what they feel to be "right wing extremists" (such as anti-abortion groups). Anti-abortion groups do not use "fear" to recruit others (unless the "fear of God" counts - Exodus 20:18-20). In fact, such groups are usually less interested in "recruits" and are only trying to influence people in regard to abortion.

*Ironically, the "news" released by Napolitano doesn't mention a new definition of "potential left-wing extremist groups." I'm sure that Bill Ayers (the Pentagon bomber) is very happy.

:-)

Re: - posted by Miccah (), on: 2009/4/23 14:56

Just a sign of the times my friends.

Prepare the way for Jesus! Come Lord Jesus!

Re: , on: 2009/4/23 15:36

Yea... I've been a Christian for over a decade now and my views on abortion were changed by God and His Word. But I have yet to anyone ever try to "recruit" me in the pro-life movement. Ever. Never ever.

Whats next? Label the Bible as recruiting propaganda? Are they gonna ban books next? Maybe have a big ol' fashion book burning... like in that other socialist experiment... Nazi Germany?

Y'all do realize that one of the first things the Nazi regime did was draft a list of potential "threats" against their system, right? This is all very reminiscent of that. Once they completed their list that's when the midnight arrests began to happen.

This is just silliness. The only kooks in this country are the people in Congress and the White House.

Krispy

Re: - posted by BeYeDoers (), on: 2009/4/23 15:56

we're already worse than the Nazis

Re: , on: 2009/4/23 16:46

Quote:

-----we're already worse than the Nazis

Uhhmm... no, we're not.

Let's not get carried away. If you really think that then might I suggest you read up on some history.

But whats happening here right now is very similar to how things got started there. Bad economy, weak leadership, cult of personality, government making lists of those it deems as a threat... (funny that the founding fathers would all be on th at list)...

But now, we're not worse than the nazis. It's over the top statements like that that discredit what we're trying to say.

Krispy

Re: - posted by BeYeDoers (), on: 2009/4/23 18:09

in numbers...yes we are

1.4-1.6 million murders of the unborn a year

Many inner cities abort 50% of conceptions

And it's funded by our tax dollars and pushed by the politicians we elect.

Hitler can't touch the US when it comes to murdering the innocent

Re: - posted by humble (), on: 2009/4/26 10:40

Hi there saints,

I think no body is, and should be surprised about these and other "changes" that are happening. Those of you folks who voted for it, you are getting it.

Excuse my sarcasm but I feel that change here up in Canada as well, and more is comming. And not only in north ameri ca. You can see the changes in the world: thre are talks about one world economy, currency and so on.

LORD keep the true Church from adversary.