boylerebels: My son just finished the One Thing internship last spring. He came back a different young man with a pass ion for Jesus beyond what he had ever had before. I want to encourage you to continue to go hard after God. Don't let up on the intensity as you seek Him. I truly believe that from your generation will arise young lions and lionesses in the kingdom of God who will have only one loyalty and will shake nations for Christ. I prayed for you that you will be rooted, grounded, and established in His Word and be mightily used of God. God bless you brother!

Keep the fire burning and dont let the devil cool you down in you first love for Christ.Be steadfast in love and faith and se ek after the holiness of Jesus. Watch out the fire darts of the adversery and hold up the shield of faith.

Take this humble advice from an older brother who started on fire for Jesus like you and later on backslid and it took me years to be restored back to a dayly fellowship with Jesus.

Keep in fellowship with those sincere christians who have a burning heart like you do. There will be times when you will f eel cold as an iceberg or dry as a desert.When a time like that comes, remember God is there with you, you may not fee l it but he is real and present. Dont ever let faith be depended of feelings. Trust Him and rely on His Word and stand on his promises and obey from the heart and all shall be well with you my freind.

Pray God will keep you humble in his grace,

Good advice. More than anything, feed on the Word for it is your spiritual sustenance.

Hey - welcome to sermonindex! Are you from SoCal - Pasadena area? I live right by Pasadena and run a ministry on Skid Row in downtown Los Angeles called The Jonah Project. We have quite a few on fire youth who help us on a regular basis. If you are from the area we should get together - send me a pm or contact me on the Jonah Project website.

God bless,

Patrick
