My wife was complaining about having heart palpitations throughout the week. After seeing her doctor today they found that my wife was born with a birth defect called psvt (PAROXYSMAL SUPRAVENTRICULAR TACHYCARDIA). It's not fatal but if it's paired with hypertension/diabetes/high blood pressure then it could cause a potential cardiac arrest.

Please pray for my wife's condition. She just gave birth to our first child Aiden and she's wanting to watch our son grow old.

We're still taking this in and we've researched online about everything that we need to know about psvt. I have faith that with the help of prayer a watchful eye both my wife and I will beat this. Thanks!

Her name is Maria Luzano.

Yeh, prayer sent up there for you guys as well!

My Mum has this. Fortunately, (to my knowledge so far and I am only 24), I don't have it. My Mum is 52 and it started roughly when she turned 40 (I think?).

However having witnessed my Mum have these attacks from time to time I know how scary it can be.

Chin up. God will pull you through.

Michael
