I had a question that I thought you all maybe able to help me with. More of a thought anyways and I wanted to know if t his thought could expand and grow into something that is edifying. To the very least I believe it could be a fruitful discus sion. Please note I don't claim to know everything of the person of Christ and so my doctrine and thoughts are flawed, I don't mind correction when its due, also I am not after outsmarting or figuring out God. I fully accept the fact that He is a being that is greatly Mysterious and somethings we just can't know. So with that in mind :) Here is the thought/question.

How does Christ Jesus view Himself in comparison to us? Does He view Himself through the Eyes of the Glorious King or through the Eyes of a Humble Servant? Is He still the Meek One?

*As I looked up more scipture on this I answered my own question :P funny thing when we open His Word to Learn from Him, He is openly ready to teach*
