

General Topics :: Deceived on Purpose?*Deceived on Purpose?, on: 2005/2/7 11:16

By Warren Smith.

It seems that Rick Warren is little more than a re-invented Schuller. Have you read this book?

Re: Deceived on Purpose?, on: 2005/2/7 11:45

Havent read it... but I have read Purpose Drive Church, and was not impressed by a lot of it. I know many people who's church grabbed ahold of the Purpose fad, and I havent heard much positive about it.

I would not go so far as to call him another Schuller, tho he does lean in that direction.

Krispy

Re: - posted by jeremyhulsey (), on: 2005/2/7 13:48

Quote:

-----I would not go so far as to call him another Schuller, tho he does lean in that direction.

I Think what Lahry is referring to was that PDC is in many ways a rip off of Robert Schuller's Church Growth seminars w hich Rick Warren attended religiously (so-to-speak) in the 70's. Rick Warren now speaks at those seminars, however, I h eard on a radio program that Schuller is somewhat upset that he is not given the credit he should be for inspiring the Pur pose Driven books.

Re:, on: 2005/2/7 15:37

Quote:

-----I heard on a radio program that Schuller is somewhat upset that he is not given the credit he should be for inspiring the Purpose Dri ven books.

That says a lot right there... If it's a movement of God, then how can any man "take credit" for it?

The "Humility Award" goes tooooo... Robert Schuller!

Krispy