Greg do you know if the live webcast can be viewed though an android handset?

Bearnaster.

Dear Brother,

Yes I believe all mobile devices will be able to access the live video stream: http://www.sermonaudio.com/event_details.asp?EventID=ma716122092

There will be a clear link also on SermonIndex.net on the top left of every page to show if the webcast is live or not.

I am planning to virtually attend, and when I tried to "save the date," it required being a member.

Do you know if I need to purchase a subscription on SermonAudio.com to stream the conference?

Thank you.

"Do you know if I need to purchase a subscription on SermonAudio.com to stream the conference?"

to save the date on SermonAudio is just a luxury service they give, to watch the webcast is free. If you register it is simply giving them your email for their newsletter in trade for using their site for free.

The live link for the webcast will be on SermonIndex.net on the top left of the side it will go red when the webcast is live.

Thank you, Greg - I scheduled my work week so I will be home both evenings! Just wanted to make I had all my ducks in a row.
