Saints,

We just wanted to let you know that we have enabled a Cloudflare system on SI which means extra security and speed for the site.

But this does mean also that if you receive a Cloudflare message to authenticate your computer then please do so and do not worry about doing so. This will enable that system to ensure you are not spam bot or hacker etc.

Thank you saints for your continued prayers for this ministry and website.

Since 15th of this month when Cloudflare was installed, I have been getting problems with the site.

When I just tried to log on with this message, I got a screen saying website not available, try later. I refreshed the screen and managed to log on. This has happened twice.

The main problem however is an ongoing one. When navigating in the discussion forum, if I read say a posted sermon and then try to get back to the main discussion forum menu by clicking on the 'back arrow', the sermon I have read just reloads. The 'back arrow' no longer does what it did before to take me to the previous page.

I am running Windows 7 and use Google Chrome browser. This 'back arrow' problem is peculiar to sermon index site and I have no problems with other sites.

Perhaps it is just me.

David

Thank you dear brother for sharing these things with us, it helps us troubleshoot this.

David, I have had problems like that, too. I just assumed the site was down for some reason.

Dear Brothers,

It should be working better now.
