

General Topics :: Pope Francis worships Lucifer openly*Pope Francis worships Lucifer openly - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2014/4/7 22:44

Saints,

I am not sure if this is true or correct, it would be great to know anything else from saints that follow these things better.

====

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0IgdzyMNfjw&feature=youtu.be>

Pope Francis has said that song where Lucifer is worshiped must be singed by all Catholics daily.

This song called Exulcet now will be part of the daily mass and is obligatory to sing for all Catholics.

Re: Pope Francis worships Lucifer openly - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2014/4/7 22:48

I found this on this site: <http://lightoftruth.tumblr.com/post/25395978741/video-of-benedict-xvi-invoking-satan-in-front-of>

===

I have to say that when I got this emailed to me I was skeptical. The video itself is of the "Easter" celebration this last Easter 2012. It's a long video. Make sure the annotations button is highlighted so you can see the annotations (it's the button that looks like a word bubble).

At the 27:30 mark, the priest or cardinal says in latin:

"Flammis eius lucifer matutinus inveniatur: ille, inquam, Lucifer, qui nescit occasum, Christus Filius tuus, qui, regressus ab inferis, humano generi serenus illuxit, et vivit et regnat, in saecula, saeculorum."

which in latin translated to English means:

"Flaming Lucifer finds mankind, I say: Oh Lucifer, who will never be defeated, Christ is your son who came back from hell, shed his peaceful light and is alive and regins in the world without end".

I don't know what "Christ" the priest is referring to but it's not Jesus Christ, the only son of God the Father !!! Jesus is not Lucifer's son. This is such blasphemy.

After that Pope Benedict says "We are Legion" (a phrase commonly used by demons).

This saddened and disgusted me at the same time. For those of you who will say oh he said lucifer because it means "light". You are wrong. Although it does mean "light bearer" and "the morning star", Use of the name "Lucifer" for the Devil stems from applying to the Devil what Isaiah 14:3-20 says of a king of Babylon whom it calls Helel (שֹׁמֵר, Shining One), a Hebrew word that refers to the Day Star or Morning Star (the Latin term for which is lucifer)

General Topics :: Pope Francis worships Lucifer openly

Re: - posted by MichaelLiao (), on: 2014/4/8 1:56

Hello Greg,

Yes, I decided to translate the latin on "Google Translate" to English (although the results are not the best) means the same thing. It does say that Christ is the son of Lucifer. Now, just a question, wasn't Jesus referred to as a Day Star or morning star in Revelation as well?

- Michael Liao

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/8 6:39

I am no fan of the Catholic church but i think we must use some caution in making accusations such as this- or posting other person's accusations.

I am not very familiar with Catholic masses, particularly the Easter mass but I did just a real quick google search and found that this song or prayer is called the "Exultet" and is used when blessing the Paschal candle. Lucifer in Latin = light bearer or "bringer of light." If God is the bringer of light then Jesus is indeed His son.

Believe me I have no vested interest in defending the Catholic Church- it has plenty of major issues without this apparent one.

But I have a very hard time believing that Pope Francis would be openly worshipping the devil in an Easter celebration seen and heard by thousands. If true, that just might be reported in the major news outlets.

I really suspect what we have here is a misunderstanding of the latin being used and the background of why this Exultet prayer is used with some conspiracy theorists thrown into the mix for good measure.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/8 6:48

Here is the wikipedia link for the term "Exultet"

Check out the english translation of this prayer on the left- the latin is on the right-- the controversial portion is in the last stanza.

Assuming the translation is correct it is obvious that satan is not being invoked or worshipped.

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/8 8:11

Greetings Greg

The entire mass is full of traditions and rituals that have nothing to do with the WORD of GOD or what we are instructed to do in following JESUS. The real tragedy here is that so many RC go to church and attend mass thinking that they will find favor with GOD for showing up on a special "HOLY" day. Its all works based with no guarantee of HIS love and forgiveness.

The RCC has its roots in pagan religions and so many of their prayers and traditions still hold to these things. We need to be praying for those lost in the lies of this false belief system, that they would see JESUS is the WAY, TRUTH, and LIGHT and know there is no other WAY but through HIM.

God bless
maryjane

Re: , on: 2014/4/8 8:15

Current Latin ICEL (Adopted 2002)

Oramus ergo te, Domine, ut candelae huius in honorem tuum in altari consecratae, ad noctis humus caliginem destruat, indeficiens perseveret. Et in odorem suavitatis accipitur, super his luminariis miscetur. Flammam emus Lucifer matutinus inveniat: ille, inquam, Lucifer, qui nescit occasum. Christus Filius tuus, qui, regressus ab inferis, humano generi serenus illuxit, et vivit et regnat in saecula saeculorum. R/ Amen.

Current English ICEL (Adopted 2011)

Therefore, O Lord, we pray you that this candle, hallowed to the honour of your name, may persevere undimmed, to overcome the darkness of this night. Receive it as a pleasing fragrance, and let it mingle with the lights of heaven. May this flame be found still burning by the Morning Star: the one Morning Star who never sets, Christ your Son, who, coming back from death's domain, has shed his peaceful light on humanity, and lives and reigns for ever and ever. Amen.

Former ICEL (replaced 2011)

Therefore, heavenly Father, in the joy of this night, receive our evening sacrifice of praise, your Church's solemn offering. Accept this Easter candle, a flame divided but undimmed, a pillar of fire that glows to the honour of God. Let it mingle with the lights of heaven and continue bravely burning to dispel the darkness of this night! May the Morning Star which never sets find this flame still burning: Christ, that Morning Star, who came back from the dead, and shed his peaceful light on all mankind, your Son, who lives and reigns for ever and ever. Amen.

The above three quotations are the official Catholic Latin and English words from the last stanza of the Exsultet. This is the part which contains the Latin phrase 'Flammam emus lucifer matutinus inveniat: ille, inquam, Lucifer, qui nescit occasum', 'Christus Filius tuus, qui, regressus ab inferis, humano generi serenus illuxit, et vivit et regnat, in saecula, saeculorum.'

A simple reading of the English in both received and replaced texts clearly shows that the term Lucifer is being used for Morning Star and that the Morning Star is Christ Himself. The prayer is offered to the Father and spoken to the congregation.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/8 8:58

Thanks for that clarification Andrew.

Re: , on: 2014/4/8 9:10

Yes, thank you for that clarification, Andrew. But that does not ameliorate the reputation of the RCC. They are subtle when they need to be and openly brazen at other times. But, all times, treacherously diabolical.

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/8 9:15

Greetings

The fact that they pray to and elevate Mary to the status they do as co-redeemer should be enough to make any Christian realize they are dealing with a false religious system. As I said the many many rituals and traditions they follow are false teachings and therefore not of GOD.

God bless
mj

Re: , on: 2014/4/8 9:54

Ahh, where to start? The biggest to me is that the Pope takes the place of Christ on earth. From this position, so many deceptions are rooted.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/8 9:56

Please understand that setting the record straight regarding the OP does not mean there is any condoning of the Catholic Church.

I agree that the RCC is a devilish system.

But I personally don't like to see untruths cast about. I don't agree with the system of Calvinism but if I see someone blatantly misrepresenting one of its tenets (i.e. setting up a straw man) I will have to say something.

Like I said there is enough wrong about the RCC to be getting on with without having to fabricate things. Pope Francis is misguided but I doubt seriously that he is a devil worshiper.

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/8 10:09

TMK wrote: Like I said there is enough wrong about the RCC to be getting on with without having to fabricate things. Pope Francis is misguided but I doubt seriously that he is a devil worshiper.

That is an interesting statement. (not saying this man openly worships the devil) However I was thinking about this the other day, if someone does not follow CHRIST and live righteously, the WORD tells us they are children of the devil. So does that mean those who are in rebellion to GOD, who live following after false teachings and religions (sinning) are children of the devil whether they realize they are or not??????

1 John 3:10 By this it is evident who are the children of God, and who are the children of the devil: whoever does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor is the one who does not love his brother.

God bless
mj

Re: , on: 2014/4/8 10:17

I agree TMK. I believe several people thanked Andrew for the correct translation. We don't need to fabricate as the RCC does.

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/8 11:06

Greetings

Just to clarify my last post, I was not attempting to speak only to the pope in my reference but in a more general way. Since the BIBLE tells us those who do not follow JESUS are children of the devil, would that mean they are in fact following after the devil even if they are deceived into doing so????

Of course this question is off topic from the OP and perhaps is better to be discussed another time in another thread. It was just something that was on my mind and TMK comment made me think of it again.

God bless
mj

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/8 11:52

Hi MJ--

I agree with you in sense. Unbelievers in a sense are following the devil because the devil is leading them into unbelief. There is a distinction I think in passive following vs active worship of the devil. None of the non Christians I personally know now are satanists. Rather they are simply passive non-disciples of Jesus.

In fact I believe the devil actively blesses people to keep them from believing. It is certainly in his power to do so.

Re: , on: 2014/4/8 12:27

The Devil knows that he is the father of everyone who does not have God as their Father.

Two fathers:

Devil

John 8:44 Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do.

Matt 12:30 He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad.

God the Father of Christ Jesus

Gal 3:26 For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus

Gal 4:6 And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.

Religion says that all men are children of God, but we know who is behind the religious system.

Re: - posted by drifter (), on: 2014/4/8 13:24

Many Puritans and reformers believed that the antichrist would come to power through the catholic church. I concur with this, although I believe Mystery, Babylon The Great encompasses all man made religion. The catholic church is the head of this.

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2014/4/8 16:15

Quote:

-----Yes, I decided to translate the latin on "Google Translate" to English (although the results are not the best) means the same thing. It does say that Christ is the son of Lucifer. Now, just a question, wasn't Jesus referred to as a Day Star or morning star in Revelation as well?

Would be interested to hear if this was done from the audio of the singing or something else?

Quote:

-----A simple reading of the English in both received and replaced texts clearly shows that the term lucifer is being used for Morning Star and that the Morning Star is Christ Himself. The prayer is offered to the Father and spoken to the congregation.

Agreed brother, but in the video I wonder if the latin is different or changed at all? I wonder if there is any believer who is able to read and speak latin that could dis-pher this?

Re: , on: 2014/4/8 17:27

Quote:
-----Agreed brother, but in the video I wonder if the latin is different or changed at all? I wonder if there is any believer who is able to read and speak latin that could dis-pher this? Greg

The whole Stanza is as follows:

Oramus ergo te, Domine, ut candelae huius in honorem tuum nomen consecratus, ad noctis humus caliginem destruas, indeficiens perseveret. Et in odorem suavitatis acceptus, supernis luminibus miscetur. Flammas enim Luciferi matutinus invocat: ille, inquam, Lucifer, qui nescit occidere. Christus Filius tuus, qui, regressus ab inferis, humiliter gaudere servatus illuxit, et vivit et regnat in saecula saeculorum. Amen.

The sung part in the clip begins as follows:

supernis luminibus miscetur. Flammas enim Luciferi matutinus invocat: ille, inquam, Lucifer, qui nescit occidere. Christus Filius tuus, qui, regressus ab inferis, humiliter gaudere servatus illuxit, et vivit et regnat in saecula saeculorum. Amen.

There is one word added to the official text and it is the word "cum". This word is added as follows:

supernis luminibus miscetur. Flammas enim Luciferi matutinus invocat: ille, inquam, Lucifer, qui nescit occidere. Christus Filius tuus, qui, regressus ab inferis, humiliter gaudere servatus illuxit, et vivit et regnat in saecula saeculorum. Amen.

The effect of adding in the latin "cum" on the English idiom is as follows:

Therefore, O Lord, we pray you that this candle, hallowed to the honour of your name, may persevere undimmed, to overcome the darkness of this night. Receive it as a pleasing fragrance, and let it mingle with the lights of heaven. May this flame be found still burning by the Morning Star: the one Morning Star who never sets, Christ your Son, who, coming back from death's domain, has shed his peaceful light on humanity, and lives and reigns for ever and ever. Amen.

The addition is a vocative cue to the ecclesia to be ready to sing Amen.

Apart from that the words are exactly as per the official Latin as quoted and therefore are as the official English as quoted.

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2014/4/8 18:25

Quote:
-----Therefore, O Lord, we pray you that this candle, hallowed to the honour of your name, may persevere undimmed, to overcome the darkness of this night. Receive it as a pleasing fragrance, and let it mingle with the lights of heaven. May this flame be found still burning by the Morning Star: the one Morning Star who never sets, Christ your Son, who, coming back from death's domain, has shed his peaceful light on humanity, and lives and reigns for ever and ever. Amen.

The addition is a vocative cue to the ecclesia to be ready to sing Amen.

Apart from that the words are exactly as per the official Latin as quoted and therefore are as the official English as quoted.

Thank you for clarifying this. We want to be careful not to promote anything that is not true. So we will lock and end the thread on this and glad we have the truth that these things are not true. We do believe the satanic and wrong in the Cat holic system but we do not want to promote un-truths.

General Topics :: Pope Francis worships Lucifer openly

this thread is locked.