

General Topics :: Will people freely submit???*Will people freely submit??? - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/26 8:35

Greetings

I read over an article shared with me and it brought up an interesting discussion. In the article the writer speaks to his own belief that the government will one day (sooner than later) make it mandatory that all are fitted with an implanted chip in order to buy/sell and connect to the internet. It is his belief that these chips will be used to track people much like the way the chips on cell phones can and do track people now.

I am not saying I agree with this person's views on what the future holds but I was interested in a portion of what he said. Here is an excerpt from that article :

"It's difficult to imagine a populace that will freely submit to such digital bondage. But as has been the case with the degradation of personal privacy and rights in America, be assured it won't simply become law overnight. First, the technologies will need to be generally accepted by society. It'll start with real-time consumer based products like Google Glass. The older generations may reject it, but in a couple of years you can bet that tens of millions of kids, teens and younger adults will be roaming the streets while sporting cool shades, interactive web surfing and the capability to record everything around them and upload it to the internet instantly.

Next, as we're already seeing from early adopters, RFID chips will be voluntarily implanted under our skin for everything from access to high security buildings to grocery store purchases.

Eventually, once the concept is generally accepted by the majority, it will become our new social security number.

To gain access to official services, you'll need to be a verified human. Without verification you won't even be able to purchase a six pack of beer, let alone get medical care or a driver's license.

Whether we like it or not this is the future. Every purchase you make and every step you take will be tracked by a tiny 15-digit passive microchip, meaning that the only way to return it off will be to physically remove it from your body.

In essence, we'll soon live in a world of Always On Monitoring.

Our children and grandchildren - at least most of them - will likely not only submit to implantation, they'll gladly pay the costs so that they, too, can interact with society in a meaningful way.

---

The portion that caught my attention was the idea that the populace will "freely accept" this kind of technology willingly. As I said this is already a discussion I have had with other young people about "how connected" they are all the time. Many young people seem to have either a phone/tablet or some kind of device that connects them to the internet with them all the time. In the case of some it's almost as if they can not put it down they are already so attached. There are videos of young toddlers playing and watching tablets all over YouTube. These children are so addicted that they scream and cry when the tablet is taken from them.

While I do not agree with conspiracy theories and I am not saying that this article is valid in that these things will come to pass anytime soon, I do wonder about how willing people might be to allow themselves to be given an implant so they could have the convenience of access to the internet all the time by just waving their hand across a reader. Imagine not having to carry a bank card, or wallet with you to pay for things? Imagine no longer needing a work badge to get into your place of work? How nice it will be not to have to carry insurance cards or remember every detail about your medical history when going to the doctor? With this in mind I wonder how many young people would willingly line up and get these kinds of implants?

In writing this I am not suggesting that implants are in fact a mark of the beast or that they are arriving soon but rather I am considering the attitudes of people and their acceptance of these things if they should become a reality.

I wonder how many would willingly accept this kind of situation and think nothing of it? Is the need to be connected, up to date on current world happenings, and entertained, so strong that people would willingly allow themselves to be chipped no matter what that might mean?

God bless
maryjane

"And ultimately, and we all know this" - posted by proudpapa, on: 2014/4/26 10:42

Even confessing Christians submit to injecting their children with vaccines made by using cell cultures from aborted babies. The religious exemptions for this are being challenged this very moment, thereby paving the road for the mark.

Truly there has been no significant resistance to Obama care, a lot of complaining but that is all, men would rather submit than pay the price. If tomorrow your bank account froze up, your cash is counted as worthless than all most all men would submit to the mark. As Art Katz points out this is because they are already serving the world system and when he realized this he got rid of his credit card.

"... in an age when the only other option is to wear the mark of the Beast.

For those unable to buy or sell in the global world economy, Christian community of a creative, productive, life-sustaining kind, however much dreaded by many till now, will prove one of the few, viable alternatives for sanctity and life. For those sons and daughters who radically separate themselves, not to so much as even touch the unclean thing, the love of the Father, the actuality of God as Father, known by few, will become a sustaining power against insecurity or falling in all the tremulous pressures of the end (2 Corinthians 6:18).

" - Art Katz

"What if tomorrow morning you got the daily newspaper and on the front page of the daily newspaper you saw these words written across there: "cashless society, all peoples have two months to make the transition to cashless society".

Oh, it would be presented so beautifully, so nicely and so wonderfully and inviting to all of us:

'That it's so much easier to deal with all the terrorist and all of those things, that if we just went with a cashless society, and you do not need a credit card anymore. And all you need to do is, get a little mark in your wrist in your hand and maybe one on your forehead and everything is going to be alright and you got two months to transition into this cashless society'.

" (to refuse that mark will be Gelassenheit) â€” Denny Kenaston

(Early Anabaptism) Gelassenheitâ€”Complete Surrender

<http://www.sermonindex.net/modules/mydownloads/visit.php?lid=17838>

"And ultimately, and we all know this, the mark of the beast will come, and you will not be able to buy or sell without it. Which means we will all come to poverty if not starvation. We need to change our mind about materialism ..." - Denny Kenaston

(Early Anabaptism) The Approaching Wave of Persecution

<http://www.sermonindex.net/modules/mydownloads/visit.php?lid=17842>

New World Monetary System :

" ..He will no doubt institute a worldwide "walking credit card " system. Invisible numbers will be implanted on the forehead or forearm, and only photoscope scanners will be able to detect the numbers. The numbers could be assigned in three stacks of six digits each. This "mark" would be required by all and no one could buy or sell without this invisibly tattooed number" - David Wilkerson prophetic vision from 1973 p.22

The technology is here, that is not a conspiracy theory :

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Microchip\_implant\_\(human\)) wake up, wake up Church or you are going to miss the persecution.

General Topics :: Will people freely submit???

Re: Will people freely submit??? - posted by proudpapa, on: 2014/4/26 11:57

RE: ///First, the technologies will need to be generally accepted by society. ///

read this forbes article :

<http://www.forbes.com/sites/andygreenberg/2012/08/13/want-an-rfid-chip-implanted-into-your-hand-heres-what-the-diy-surgery-looks-like-video/>

read this BBC article :

<http://www.bbc.com/future/story/20140209-why-i-want-a-microchip-implant>

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/26 13:13

Greeting PP

Thank you for sharing the links with me. I had no idea that people were already so willing to do this to themselves. I was speaking with my son this morning who is very tech savy and he agreed that the tech is there but isn't so sure that people would willingly embrace the idea. Of course when I put it to him that if the government or some other entity forced people into accepting it by limiting access to the internet then he said he believed many young people his age would allow themselves to be chipped rather than part with the internet.

Of course we did talk about the possibility if such a chip could be used to modify and control another persons behavior and he said it was possible. The tech is there and could easily be put into place over the next few years so that people would not need money or even ID. Each person could be assigned a number and once read it would link them to a central data bases where all their information is stored. buying and selling, health info, work history, credit history, all kinds of information could be gathered and kept on each individual person. He was explaining that the GPS tracking could even be used to determine where a person was at any given time. A person could be tracked on where they go, if they attended church, Bible studies, or prayer meetings, and how frequently ect. It was interesting info to learn.

Of course I am not saying any of this is about to happen or not just more commenting and considering how widely and easily accepted it would be "IF" these things ever happened.

God bless
maryjane

Re: - posted by proudpapa, on: 2014/4/26 13:50

RE : ///if such a chip could be used to modify and control another persons behavior and he said it was possible.///

Yes.

Many are wrapped up in watching what is happening as far as a physical temple being rebuilt and a man by the name of anti christ setting in the thrown of it.

but the Bible tell us that human bodies are the temple.

When David Wilkerson and others predicted these things in the 70s and before. It was pure science fiction and conspiracy sounding but the reality is it is here and it is being implemented almost exactly as predicted.

General Topics :: Will people freely submit???

Re: - posted by drifter (), on: 2014/4/26 18:00

The word "mark" in Revelation 13 in Greek is "charagma" which means an impressed mark or engraving. Interesting...

Re: - posted by a-servant, on: 2014/4/26 21:10

To the question Will people freely submit?

No some will not, however what will happen is, the chip will be the only alternative available after currencies will be crashed on purpose.

There is this 'engineer turned missionary' that worked on the initial development of the product code bar system, that already had that basic 666 system of codifying information back in the 1960's.

He followed up with what he learned there, and wrote much about later developments of that system, the last he wrote about was basically that it is ready and they are just waiting for some big events to happen to implement it.

These events include huge global changes in the world of finance and also in the area of wars.

After that chaos the chip to buy and sell will be part of the 'satanic solution' to the 'human problem'.

At that time people without faith will have a huge problem to not go with the mainstream and accept it. People with faith will know that it will last only 42 months and there is a remote chance, that it will only be implemented at the very last moment of these "3 1/2 years".

Daniel wrote:

Daniel 12:11  $\hat{A}$  And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abomination that maketh desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days. Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days.

There is a difference between the first and last part of that scripture of one and half month. The blessed will understand what it means when the time arrives.

Re: Will people freely submit???, on: 2014/4/26 21:14

my dear sister MJ,

no, I will not submit to these sons of the darkness, minions of Babylon.

why do you think, beloved, that Jesus HIMSELF, instructed us, to sell our cloaks and buy a sword?

I have much to say, but I want to keep this post short, as this forum is definitely NOT the place to share where the LORD leads me, in heart mind body and soul.

not the place.

General Topics :: Will people freely submit???

Global war is very near. buy provisions as much as your purse can withstand.

May the Grace of Jesus be with your spirit, and don't fear, n.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/26 22:45

http://www.equip.org/hank\_speaks\_out/mark-of-the-beast/

I certainly agree with Hank. I think we need to stop looking for literal fulfillments to extremely figurative and symbolic and apocalyptic imagery from Revelation.

Neil-- on what basis do you believe that a global war is imminent? And how imminent do you mean? 3 months? 3 years? 300 years? I hate to pin you down but when someone makes such statements I believe it is appropriate to ask for details. I suppose anything is possible but the likes of Hal Lindsey and Jack Van Impe have been claiming this for years.

Re: , on: 2014/4/26 23:03

David Wilkerson prophesied it...

Re: - posted by proudpapa, on: 2014/4/27 1:37

Hi NoahJD,

p. 22 of his 1973 vision

".. Invisible numbers will be implanted on the forehead or forearm, and only photoscope scanners will be able to detect the numbers. The numbers could be assigned in three stacks of six digits each. This "mark" would be required by all and no one could buy or sell without this invisibly tattooed number" - David Wilkerson

This entire generation knows, As Brother Denny Kenaston put it : "((And ultimately, and we all know this)), the mark of the beast will come, and you will not be able to buy or sell without it. Which means we will all come to poverty if not starvation. We need to change our mind about materialism ..." - Denny Kenaston

"... in an age when the only other option is to wear the mark of the Beast.

For those unable to buy or sell in the global world economy, Christian community of a creative, productive, life-sustaining kind, however much dreaded by many till now, will prove one of the few, viable alternatives for sanctity and life...." - Art Katz

WAKE UP, WAKE UP SLEEPY CHURCH, are you ready for Gelassenheit !!

Re: - posted by a-servant, on: 2014/4/27 12:24

thank you PP, i'm definitely in on going for Gelassenheit well i'm living it.

Re: - posted by Heydave (), on: 2014/4/29 7:13

Well just now I had a very interesting conversation in regard to this subject.

I was in my village coffee shop (small village) and as I was there I saw a sign for the 'tap and go' bank card system. This is where you can just tap your card on a terminal and pay for small things like coffee up to a limit of £20 pounds. I asked the owner about this, as I did not know much about it and in the course of the conversation he said he thought that having a chip implanted in your wrist would be a much better idea! I was taken a back somewhat as he was completely serious and when I said "what, the mark of the beast?", he was completely ignorant of what I said and it went straight over his head. He just continued to say how it would be a good thing and only those who had something to hide would have a problem with it. This is just a regular middle aged guy running a coffee shop with no particular agenda.

I came away really hit by how the world and Satan works slowly and subtly to condition men's minds to accept these things. I remember hearing Christian speakers teach about the implantation of a chip for buying and selling 30 years or more ago. At the time it seemed hard to see how this would be accepted and the thought was it would have to be forced onto folk. Now it seems as if most would readily accept such a thing, if not welcome it eagerly! The other thing is that we often think that these things we hear about will happen quickly (not take 30 plus years), but the enemy is crafty and will bring it in slowly, bit by bit so most folk don't even notice the change and even think it was their idea....very clever. It may be another 10 plus years before we see such a system or maybe sooner.

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/29 8:24

Heydave wrote: Now it seems as if most would readily accept such a thing, if not welcome it eagerly! The other thing is that we often think that these things we hear about will happen quickly (not take 30 plus years), but the enemy is crafty and will bring it in slowly, bit by bit so most folk don't even notice the change and even think it was their idea....very clever. It may be another 10 plus years before we see such a system or maybe sooner.

---

This is what struck me as well, how easy people are about the whole idea. There are many I am learning who embrace it and as you said, there are many who say the same thing, "what's the big deal?" Most say only those who have something to hide are the ones who don't want it. The enemy is very subtle indeed...just like with Eve in the garden he tells us these things are good when they only bring about death.

God bless
mj

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2014/4/29 9:05

Assuming that this "mark" is a literal stamp or tattoo or chip, which to me is very questionable, do you think a Christian could be "tricked" into taking it?

I think in order for a literal mark to have the proposed literal effect (damnation) then to take the mark would be associated with a conscious and direct denial of Jesus Christ. The early martyrs were told to renounce Christ and declare Caesar as Lord, or die a horrible death. If the mark is literal I expect something similar will be in play- a direct renunciation. I don't think a person accepting some technology without any concomitant renunciation of Christ will damn anybody.

Let's face it-- it may yet be many years before any of this might happen. No one knows when that day will be. The technology we have now may pale in comparison to what we may have just 20 years from now.

How do we know that social security numbers are not the Mark?

General Topics :: Will people freely submit???

Re: - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/4/29 9:34

by TMK on 2014/4/29 6:05:54

Assuming that this "mark" is a literal stamp or tattoo or chip, which to me is very questionable, do you think a Christian could be "tricked" into taking it?

I think in order for a literal mark to have the proposed literal effect (damnation) then to take the mark would be associated with a conscious and direct denial of Jesus Christ. The early martyrs were told to renounce Christ and declare Caesar as Lord, or die a horrible death. If the mark is literal I expect something similar will be in play- a direct renunciation. I don't think a persons accepting some technology without any concomitant renunciation of Christ will damn anybody.

Let's face it-- it may yet be many years before any of this might happen. No one knows when that day will be. The technology we have now may pale in comparison to what we may have just 20 years from now.

How do we know that social security numbers are not the Mark?

---

Greetings TMK

I can only answer for myself but I am not saying that having a chip implanted is/isn't the mark of the beast.(I don't know) I was just more commenting on the "willingness" of people to accept such a thing regardless of whether it could be used in such a way or not. People are so addicted to being connected, to being on the internet and social media that if it came down to a choice of having to give it up or be chipped I am finding that many will choose to let themselves have the implants. I agree technology will keep advancing, that is why I see danger in this whole prospect, the more advance we get the more control another person can hold over a person. Even if these implants are not the mark of the beast they still can be used now as a means to track people and as they become more sophisticated they will be able to do much more. With all this in mind how willing people are to accept such a device is what shocks me. With how fast technology is advancing this reality maybe much closer then we realize. I read one article that stated the tech is there to implement this now, its just a matter of taking the time to win the hearts and minds of the majority of the people... and that seems to be happening now.

God bless
mj

Re: - posted by proudpapa, on: 2014/4/29 10:10

RE: ///I don't think a persons accepting some technology without any concomitant renunciation of Christ will damn anybody.///

The fact is as brother Denny stated : ((And ultimately, and we all know this))

This is such a reality that the world will not be able to say : "Well I just did not have any idea" The fact is the very propaganda such as the forbes artical that I posted bears witness to the reality that the warning of this being the mark is and has gone forth, the propaganda it's self is a witness of this being the mark.

Edit add : the controversy itself is a witness for all to see and consider, so that none will be able to say : "Well I just did not have any idea"

The fact is this is playing out as predicted.

Relieze assuredly that when such a thing is mandated and you can not buy nor sell without it and the religious exempti on is taken away. Know for sure it is the mark.