

General Topics :: Why would God show me this

Why would God show me this - posted by jenny1234, on: 2014/8/4 7:38

Why would God show me this? I'm just nobody, I was in prayer, and in the distant in the darkness I seen a sun in the position of a sunrise I seen it 3 separate times, and as I am starring at it, flashed inside my body, and I felt glorious joy and happiness, and there with God I did not need anything to eat or drink, the only thing that matters is the relationship I have with him nothing else, and this world and everything it has to offer is absolutely nothing compare to what he has in store for us, and I realized I love Jesus more than anybody on earth.

Re: Why would God show me this - posted by MaryJane, on: 2014/8/4 8:29

Greetings jenny134

Praise GOD for allowing you to see the things that truly matter. May our hearts, minds, and lives, always be focused and submitted to CHRIST JESUS.

You are right the things of this world pale in comparison to our LORD and SAVIOR.

What a blessing to see these things and know JESUS. Thank you for sharing with us.

God bless you
maryjane

Re: - posted by davidkeel (), on: 2014/8/4 14:05

When I am going on with God in a way I know is right I have some really good dreams and visions like this. I have had a breakdown and not experiencing things like that at the moment but it's a real time of joy when we hear from God like this. Maybe you are really pressing on and God is encouraging you.

Re: - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2014/8/4 17:12

Quote:
-----Why would God show me this? I'm just nobody, I was in prayer, and in the distant in the darkness I seen a sun in the position of a sunrise I seen it 3 separate times, and as I am starring at it, flashed inside my body, and I felt glorious joy and happiness, and there with God I did not need anything to eat or drink, the only thing that matters is the relationship I have with him nothing else, and this world and everything it has to offer is absolutely nothing compare to what he has in store for us, and I realized I love Jesus more than anybody on earth.

Sister, thank you for sharing this, what a blessing and encouragement. Our intimate personal walk with the Lord is what matters most, your experience underlines that.

Re: - posted by jenny1234, on: 2014/8/5 15:45

jenny1234

Thank you all, I know this might seem strange, while I was speaking in prayer after that encounter, that our old man died. I have been crucified with Christ and I no longer live, but Christ lives in me. The life I now live in the body, I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me. Amen.

General Topics :: Why would God show me this

Re: - posted by HeartSong, on: 2014/8/5 23:39

Amen.