-----Francis Chan joins the ALCF Board of Elders with over 20 years of pastoral experience. We believe that God has called Francis to labor closely with us during this season. Considered an "elder among elders," he will provide training to our leadership team and staff, as well as assist in the development and implementation of our renewed discipleship model.

I am curious if this may lead to a lead pastor role there. The former pastor resigned after a "moral failure" a few years ago that was never publicly specified. I looked to see if there is a senior or lead pastor, and it looks to me that perhaps....maybe.....not sure that they have adopted a plurality pastorate model, which also looks very racially and gender mixed . Noteworthy as well is the charismatic roots of that fellowship.

I am hopeful for this. Since David Platt left his pastorate to lead the SBC's International Mission Board, I was curious what Chan was up to. This could be quite a good thing.
