

News and Current Events :: The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation*The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation - posted by TMK (), on: 2018/6/20 14:14

HELP!!!

thanks for listening.

Re: The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation - posted by SHMILY, on: 2018/6/20 14:36

PRAY!!! ;)

Our leaders need the wisdom of Solomon.

REJOICE! =)

Mary

Re: The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation - posted by JFW (), on: 2018/6/21 7:41

We are led by Holy Spirit not the media....

Has literally been this same situation for well over a decade and in fact was substantially worse until recently and yet we â€™ve not heard much about it until now, and Iâ€™ve never seen it discussed on this board... why?

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2018/6/21 8:10

I am trying to think if I have before seen Christians so worked into a hysterical frenzy by a media with an unashamedly li beral agenda. Folks should know better and are being led by the nose like sheep.

Re: - posted by JFW (), on: 2018/6/21 8:45

Ha!

Well Iâ€™m sure it wonâ€™t be the last time...

not to be cynical thoâ€™ - it is a horrible situation and as crazy as this may sound, I believe that on some (possibly subc onscious) level the reason weâ€™ve never seen this type of hysteria is because they didnâ€™t have confidence in the l eadership to be able to fix it, whereas now (even tho they hate it) there is seemingly a belief it can be done by this admin
.

Tho as sister Mary said, we can Pray !

Re: The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation - posted by AbideinHim (), on: 2018/6/21 9:51

President Trump should be dealing compassionately with the plight of the poor immigrants flooding into the U. S., howev er the blindness of the liberal media is staggering for they cannot hear the cries of the blood of millions of innocent babie s that have been murdered through the sin of abortion.

Re: - posted by TMK (), on: 2018/6/21 11:04

Now Mike, we mustn't bring up such things.

Re: The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2018/6/23 11:44

I do not think these immigrants are as innocent as the news media have us believe. There are pregnant females who will come to the USA to deliver their babies in the expectation they will get to stay here.

You can ask any illegal immigrant and they know they are running some serious risks by not doing it legally. It is a lot like anyone shoplifting - they know it is against the law but hope they will not get caught.

I know of an illegal that joined a local church and they asked him to make his status legal...he ran afoul of the law on another matter and is now banned from ever returning to the USA. And good reason. He knew he was wrong in the beginning and then goes and commits an act of violence...

I do not believe this crisis is subject to an easy solution. The parents of these children are not as innocent as the media have you believe.

Sandra

Re: The Current Immigration Crisis- family separation - posted by dohzman (), on: 2018/6/24 18:52

If Americans broke the law and were jailed, both parents that is, family services would come in and remove the children and place them until family members could make proper arraignments to come and get them. Why do people coming in to this country feel they should be above the law?

There is a relocation center not far from where I live. After processing these immigrants they receive 80 k per family and are temporarily set up on welfare. In many cases they buy a house and several families will move into that house. They usually take over entire neighborhoods and as a culture refuse to assimilate to American culture. Many homes have several families collecting aid and benefits and the system is totally exploited. The main stream media reports nothing on this because it does not fit in with their narrative.

There is coming a day when that medium will turn and take aim on the Christian community in the same type of full on fury. It would be good to learn not to be affected by the current spin in the news and tossed to and fro, but to keep our focus straight ahead.

Re: - posted by Gloryandgrace (), on: 2018/6/25 14:12

The news media does not care anything about these ILLEGAL immigrant kids than they do the kids in the mothers womb they so happily are ready to kill for the 'mothers sake'.

These are not immigrants, they are Illegal immigrants...huge difference.

The wall, the welfare, the border patrol, the politics, the anti-trump bashing all of it is pure fluff. The real problem is in Mexico, where their own leaders are corrupt and in bed with the cartels. It's their leaders, their system, their local and national governments that need a big time fix. A complete overthrow and ridding of the whole bunch of them will be the only real fix, until then the USA will talk, spend billions and talk more about crying kids, drug problems, illegals, big walls and liberals whining about how bad Trump is. I for one would be happy to see the whole Mexican government overthrown and tossed out like Saddam Hussein.

But half measures, cry-me stories and tax payer dollars are what we are used to doing... so continue to whine and pay up.

Re: - posted by Gloryandgrace (), on: 2018/6/25 14:40

Now, I wouldn't mind making Mexico the 51st state, we can then take some easy military action and clean out the billion dollar killers.

But I know too that in my own country the Hillaries and the other liberal loons would love to get their hands on that drug money as well. We have our own corruption problems and we see it every single day...especially when a news source cannot tell us the truth about anything, just a biased propaganda piece about how awful President Trump is and how the liberals have a 'better idea'. So they use current events to wrap their propaganda piece in then sell it to the public as 'concerns over the actions of the President'.

In my many many conversations I've had over the years with my Mexican friends they know as well as I do, they need a new broom to sweep away the monsters that exploit them and exploit the Americans. Nothing short of that will solve their problems.

A big wall and a big budget and big guns and big media watch dogs are only band-aids soaked in soap that have no hope of improving the plight of Mexicans and giving them a reason to stay and live in their own country.

In my uninformed and useless opinion the Leaders of our country like it as it is, the leaders in Mexico like it as it is, the symbiotic relationship we have is beneficial to both. I believe this because NO ONE in the last 50 years has proposed anything that will change the course of Mexican business and government that would curtail the mass exodus coming from Mexico to America.

Our leaders are very happy to keep it as it is, they get all that illegal immigrant labor to exploit for low wages, no benefits so that we have all the farm workers, factory workers, minimum pay workers in retail and food industry we want. We depend upon them, we need them and in the end when we talk about walls or border patrols or some few extraditions it's a lot cheaper than using American workers.

I see it as useless talking points to keep the Americans feeling like they are going to get something done about illegal immigrants...but it's a joke on us. Nothing is going to be done because our leaders we voted in, they know the back story and that story is more important than the media's usage of crying babies and drugs coming in our country.

When Israel or some other country is confronted by terrorists, bombs and government corruption...we talk about bombing the tar out of their enemies...but Mexico, we don't spend a cab fare to visit any leader there in order to affect any change...because our leaders want it this way.